OF HOPE

SOUTHEAST ASIA is a dominant hub for human trafficking. Poverty, false belief systems, lack of education, and greed have combined to create a PERFECT STORM that is engulfing boys and girls in sexual and labor trafficking.

What if...

you could do something to fight this heart-breaking injustice? What if you could help save a young girl from becoming a child bride in Thailand or rescue a teen from the online sex industry in the Philippines? Or show Christ's compassionate love to a fatherless child of a martyr in Laos?

You can help RESCUE & REDEEM

Compassionate Hope's Homes of Hope.

OUR 50+ HOMES OF HOPE in Southeast Asia are serving "the Least of These," children who are vulnerable to human trafficking and sexual exploitation. Children are cared for by loving house parents who welcome them as family while meeting their physical, spiritual, emotional, educational, and vocational needs.

Each Home of Hope is unique based on its leadership, the community it serves, and the needs of the children. A home may have a few as five children, or as many as 20 or more. Our commitment is to provide education for each child even through university or vocational school.

HOMES OF HOPE are led by faithful, national believers who are also leaders in their communities. Compassionate Hope operates as a servant, providing the oversight, finances, and support needed so that these national leaders can, in turn, serve the Least of These.

WE PRAY that God would raise up passionate individuals like YOU to call together a team from among your family, church and friends to help sponsor a Home of Hope. The cost for all aspects of home care ranges between $600 and $3,000 per month per home.
